WAR DEPARTMENT

STAND BY MR. GARRISON FOR NATIONAL DEFENSE

Still Want More Substantial Monetary Support From the Federal Government.

Differences between the Nationa Guard and the War Department over the proposal to organize a continental army as a second line of defense to the regular army apparently have been inion over the wisdom of Secretary Garrison's proposed defense measures. Secretary Garrison, however, seems to have been successful in convincing the guardsmen of the wisdom of the plan. However, the whole question, in the light of the conferences between Sec retary Garrison and other officials and officers in the War Department, will be discussed at the National Guard convention in San Francisco next month. The officers in attendance here have let it be known in a statement issued last night that the War Department in all probability would have the support of the National Guard for the national defense measures, involved in an indefense measures, involved in an increase in the standing army and the formation of the continental army. This support seems to be based, however, on the condition that the organized militia is given more substantial support from the federal government in the way of increased appropriations and a pay bil.

Statement by Gen. Foster. Gen. Foster of the Florida National Guard, chairman of the executive committee, issued the following state-militia. In the course of the consideration of these matters there naturally came up for discussion the larger and broader question of a general military policy for national defense which has so recently been brought to public at-
